WRITE THE DOCS | Dallas

About Write the Docs

Write the Docs (WTD) is a global community of people who care about documentation.

We consider everyone who cares about communication, documentation, and their users to be a member of our community. This can be programmers, tech writers, developer advocates, customer support, marketers, and anyone else who wants people to have great experiences with software.

Our conferences create a time and a place for the global community of Documentarians to share information, discuss ideas, and work together to improve the art and science of documentation.

WTD | Dallas

This chapter of WTD aims to serve local documentarians by sharing knowledge, experience, and goodwill.
